PEACE BE STILL IN NAVY YARDS OVER THE WORLD

Commoner Has Answer for Nations That Would Maintain Yards

"STILLNESS OF PEACE"

Analysis of What is Being Discussed at Great Arms Parley in Capital

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Copyright 1921 by the United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Discussion is the beginning of agreement, and the time is now being spent in discussion. There is a commendable frankness in the proceedings. Recognizing the difference between a principle and a detail, the delegates are suggesting modifications which may or may not alter the principle. Two of these modifications demand consideration at the present time.

First, Great Britain suggests a decrease in the submarine tonnage required and the elimination of the long distance submarine. There is a great dela of force in this suggestion and when it is whipped into shape it will in all probability result in the suppression of all submarines intended for offensive purposes. As an inexpensive weapon of defense nothing has ever equalled the submarine unless it be the bomb-dropping airplane, and it is not likely that the final agreement will weaken the defensive power of any nation. The United States is as anxious as Great Britain to abolish every offensive weapon of war and to reduce to the lowest possible point the defensive weapons.

Japan is likely to agree with the United States in favoring a sufficient defensive armament. If the provision suggested can be confined to defensive work there will be little objection, because no nation is likely to burden itself with unnecessary defensive preparation. tI is the offensive armament that has aroused the ire of the world and this armament, whether it be on land or sea, must be put in process of extinction.

The British suggestion in regard to giving shipyards enough work to maintain the organization does not strike a responsive chord. For a generation before the late war the din of the munition factories drowned the voice of conscience; now that conscience has asserted itself it ought not to be drowned by the riveting of armor on battleships. To those who witnessed the impressive ceremony at Arlington, where the unknown soldier was laid to rest in the presence of the representatives of the world, nothing was more impressive than the two minutes of silent prayer.

The world needs the same stillness today in the navy yards—a quiet that will permit the world to meditate, undisturbed, upon the horrors of war an dto seek the pathway that leads to universal and perpetual peace. The naval holiday, if it is to be of value, must be real.

"Peace, be still" once calmed the sea; why not use the command to quiet the yards uot of which come the ships that give to the sea a fury greater than that stirred by the deadliest storm?

FEDERAL OFFICERS WANT GARDNER IN PENITENTIARY

Feel Uneasy While Escape King is Still in Their Custody in Jail

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 19.—Admittedly disturbed by Roy Gardner's announcement that he will add another jail break to his sensational criminal career 'if they give me half a chance," United States District Attorney Flynn today planned to call a special session of the grand jury immediately to dispose of the latest charges against the bandit.

The grand jury now stands adjourned until next week. Federal officials frankly assert, however, that they do not want to be responsible for Gardner's custody in jail here a day longer than necessary. Sentences now standing against Gardner for previous crimes total approximately 75 years; so it was at first considered useless to force him to trial for his latest offense.

LOVE OF A BONNET ENJOYABLE PLAY

The plays given Friday night at the Congregational church proved to be great successes. There were about 100 present to witness the play, "The Love of a Bonnett," in which Mrs. Blake Franklin won the honors and was presented with a pretty boudoir lamp. There was also an interesting pantomime play given.

Miss Doris Barnard and brother Malcolm, were in charge of the stage arrangements. A vocal solo was rendered by Blake Franklin. An admission charge of 25 cents was made and during the evening candy was sold, both bringing in a nice sum.

Takes Lot of Hay to Stoke Elephant or a Battleship!

It take a lot of hay to stoke an elephant, says James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" this evening, and it takes a lot of fuel to stoke a battleship and from this conclusion he argues that the scrapping of the battleships would be getting rid of a hay-eating elephant. And you will agree with his philosophy if you read his article.

Dr. Frank Crane speaks of a cold-blooded crime and comes to the conclusion that intoxication and passion are not proper excuses for crime. Henry James in his comments on the news of the day alludes to the Arbuckle case in San Ffancisco and the methods which the lawyers take to defeat justice.

We commend to your consideration the leading editorial tonight entitled "Satan Came Also." It deals with the Brisbane method of attack, the Hearst poison to make ineffective the work of the limitation of armament conference in Washington. Take the first opportunity to read it.

KEEP CHILDREN OFF STREETS AT NIGHT CHIEF MARTIN

Head of Police Department Thinks Curfew Law May Help Situation

"There are too many young children on the streets after night and I am thinking of invoking the curfew law as a remedy," said Chief of Police Martin today. "It is bad for the morals of the boys and girls to be allowed to run the streets at night. They are too apt to come in contact with vicious companions and be led from the paths of right. Most of the juvenile crimes in Glendale, the petty thefts of accessories from automobiles, is traced back to the fact that the boys roamed the streets and due to bad companions were led astray.

"Parents should know where their children are in the evening. It is bad for a girl to be allowed to go out in the evening to walk the streets alone. She is exposed to temptations and dangers that are met in every town, large or small. Very few children are naturally vicious or bad. They are mischievous and when allowed the freedom of the streets and allowed to roam at will this propensity for mischief leads to vice and crime.

"I do not want to revert to the curfew law to keep the children off the streets and am making a plea to the parents to help me. For the good of the coming generation I will enforce the ancient law in the event the children continue to roam the streets at all hours of the night."

WARN PUBLIC FAKER MAY SOLICIT FOR THORNYCROFT

Suggest People Ask for Credentials When Solicitors Ask for Public Aid

The people of Glendale are warned against certain persons soliciting money and food supposedly to be given to disabled veterans at Thornycroft sanitarium. This has come to the attention of the disabled veterans and they want the people to understand that anyone soliciting for them must have credentials. Following is a letter from the ex-service men of the sanitarium, which is self-explanatory:

Editor Glendale Press: It has come to the attention of the disabled veterans of Thornycroft sanitarium that a party or parties are soliciting money and food presumably for the benefit of the above mentioned ex-service men. It is understood that statements are made that this is necessary as we are insufficiently fed.

This is not true. We have received gifts and delicacies from numerous public spirited citizens and also several organizations and schools which have been greatly appreciated and this letter is not intended to reflect on them but it is to acquaint the public with the information that some person or persons are using our disability for personal gain.

Citizens of Glendale and vicinity should ascertain if parties soliciting funds for the disabled men of Thornycroft have credentials from some local organization, school or are responsible citizens. Again we wish to thank the people of Glendale and vicinity for their kindnesses and generosity shown us in the past. It is requested that this letter be published in your naper for the information of the public.

We wish to thank you for your generous offer in giving us a percentage of the receipts of the Thanksgiving edition of the Press.

Very truly yours,
THE EX-SERVICE MEN OF THORNYCROF TSANITARIUM.

GLENDALE'S DEBATE TEAM VICTORS IN FRIDAY CONTEST

Question of Panama Canal Tolls is Vehicle of Triumph for This City

By FRANCIS W. READ

Winning by comfortable margins both debates against Hollywood nigh school last night, Glendale union high school now rests in first place in the Southern California Debating and Oratory League. Both debates were well attended, and the support given the teams was in no small manner responsible for their splendid showing.

Debating the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that the United States Should Repeal the Tolls on All American Ships Passing Through the Panama Canal," George Jordan and Paul Hutchinson were matched against two girls from Hollywood, Misses Anna Coles and Eleanor Chase. The constructive speeches were especially good and showed that both teams had thoroughly studied the question. After the four constructive speeches came the rebuttals. During the rebuttal speeches many of the strongest contentions of both sides seemed to be shattered, but after they were concluded, there seemd little doubt in the minds of the audience as to the result. The final decision gave Glendale 193 points and Hollywood 183.

Taking the negative of the same question, Miss Kathleen Campbell and Dale T. Wod journeyed to Hollywood. After a close contest, the judges awarded the decision to Glendale by a score of 197 to 173 1-3. Many loyal rooters accompanied the local team to Hollywod, astonishing the natives by their vigorous yelling.

Hollywood has always been one of the strongest schools in the league and Glendale has never been able to defeat the Foothillers in debating. This double victory against the ancient foes, placing the Glendale debater on top of the league, will serve as an incentive to work even harder for the next debate, which is scheduled for the latter part of January.

Here Is the Man Who Started the Unknown Hero Idea

Gaston Vidal, the French minister of sports, is the originator of the world-wire movement to honor the memory of the Unknown Soldier. A few months before the celebration of Armistice Day, in 1920, he started the idea in the French papers, pleading that France should honor her 300,000 "missing" by solemnly interring one body as "unknown" in Paris. The idea was permitted to lapse. Finally Lloyd George adopted it for Great Britain. Italy and the United States as well as the country where the idea originated, followed suit. The photo shows Vidal following instructions given by Johnny Evers in the art of pitching a baseball.

BROTHERHOOD HELD YEARLY ELECTION LAST EVENING

W. F. Tower is Made New President of Very Active Church Body

Friday night the men of the Brotherhood of the First Methodist church held their annual election of officers. At 7 o'clock all were seated at tables arraned in a big quadrangle in the social hall. It was entirely a stag affair. The kitchen and table service was looked after by Mr. Peart's capable men's committee.

After all had been satisfied at the tables, A. G. Lindley, who for five years has successfully served as president, made a speech declining to serve longer because of business that takes him outside of Glendale much of the time. He will continue to serve as a private member of the group.

A. W. Tower, secretary, read the report of the nominating committee and the following officers were elected:

President, W. F. Tower; first vice-president, Ed M. Lee; second vice-president, R. F. Kitterman; third vice-president, George Jeffreys; fourth vice-president, C. D. Lusby; fifth vice-president, J. G. Peart; secretary, W. D. Root; treasurer, E. E. Osgood;. chaplain, Rev. Edward Hoskyn.

All were invited to the Round Table above the pastor's study, Sunday nights at 7 o'clock.

The new president made a short speech, praising the work of the organization in the past five years and asking the cooperation of all members for future work. He asked that our present state of mind be: "Hats off to the past; coats off for the future!"

The address of the evening was made by Rev. Harley Preston, new pastor of the West Glendale Methodist church, who has had a varied experience in lay capacities, not the least being his service in the khaki ranks in France during the World War. In the early part of his address he compelled his listeners to feel that the most enterprising real estate firm in Glendale had made a mistake of its life in not annexing Rev. Preston as one of its force.

Rev. Preston dealt chiefly with the spirit of brotherhood in the world and explained how wonderfully he was impressed in France with the "buddy" spirit. Regardless of race, religion or color, the man in the rank would sacrifice for his "buddy." The "buddy" spirit was a contribution to the world that the church should emphasize in its ranks. One of many illustrations was that of the tramp who knocked at the preacher's door for something to eat. The preacher insisted on saying the Lord's Prayer as he fed the fellow. He remarked: "Did you say 'our Father'? Then you and I must be brothers, and I'd like to have you cut my slice of bread a little thicker!"

GET UP EARLY!

The public service department of the city announces that light and power will be shut off at 6:15 a. m. Sunday and remain off for half to three-quarters of an hour. This is necessary because the voltage is a little low on the peak and a change to a higher voltage must be made in sub-station transformers. This will probably be completed by 7 o'clock.

Gerald Delgardo was appointed chairman of the sick committee to act until January 1 and is busy with Christmas plans for the disabled veterans at Thornycroft Sanitarium.

TUJUNGA WANTS TO GET ELECTRIC LINE

Salt Lake Asked to Extend Service from Glendale for Better Service

Tujungans are making an attempt to have the Salt Lake railroad electrolize their line and extend it from Glendale to Tujunga. This would be of vast benefit to the city of Glendale and property in the eastern section of the city would naturally increase in value. If the Salt Lake road should electrolize the line through the valley, it would necessitate passing through this city, using their present right-of-way along Glendale avenue.

According to Mayor Spencer Robinson, a committee of Tujungans has called on the officials and conferred with them in regard to extending and electrolizing the lines. Their campaign, working in conjunction with that of the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association, should bear fruit, as the committee from Tujunga is representative of 2150 people, resident and property holders in that town The Glendale Avenue Improvement Association represents almost a like number of property holders in Glendale.

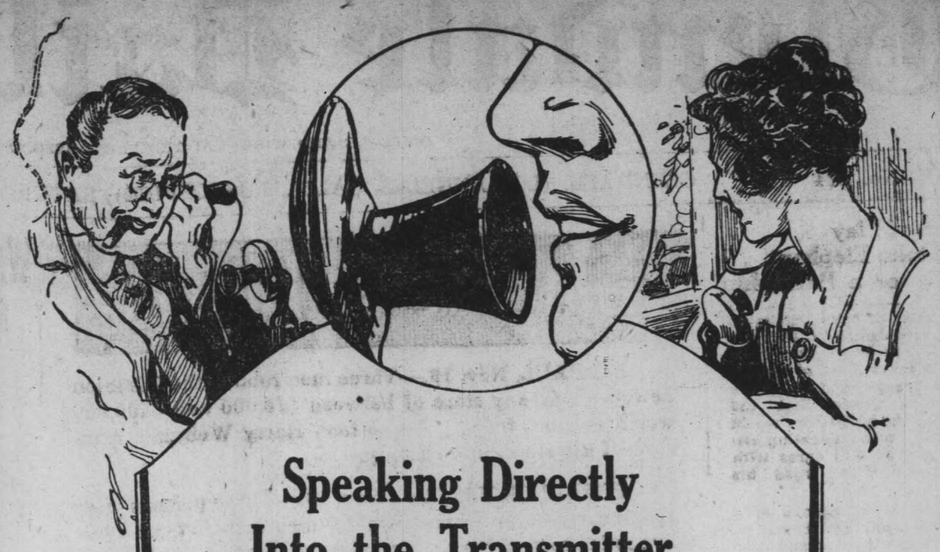
OPPENHEIM STORY AT T. D. & L. THEATER

"The Great Impersonation," the E. Phillips Oppenheim story featuring James Kirkwood, will be shown at the T. D. L. theatre Sunday and Monday.

James Kirkwood, the featured player, has a dual role, appearing both as an Englishman and as a German. In the leading feminine role is Ann Forrest, while Alan Hale, remembered for his fine work in the stage play, "Friendly Enemies," is seen in the chief heavy part. The deposed Emperor Wilhelm is portrayed by Lawrence Grant. Others in the cast are Fontaine La Rue, Bertram Johns, Winter Hall and Truly Shattuck.

Today is the last day of Meiklejohn and Dunn's big vaudeville show, headlined by Brindamour and company, the great escape artist, and four other pleasin gacts. The feature picture for tonight is William De Mille's production, "After the Show."



Speaking Directly Into the Transmitter

Clearness and distinctness of speech is of course the foundation of a satisfactory telephone conversation.

The transmitter of the telephone is the result of years of study and experimentation by telephone engineers. It is of delicate adjustment and its fullest effectiveness can only be obtained through proper use.

The lips should not be more than an inch from the transmitter, and the voice should be clear, not loud.

Speak directly and distinctly into the mouthpiece. This will mean your satisfaction and that of the person with whom you are talking.

Truths in Epigram

Nothing is so dear and precious as time. — Rabelais (1495-1546).

I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.—Old Testament.

They shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall learn war any more.—Old Testament.

SATAN CAME ALSO

Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them.

Satan, the influence of evil, gets into every assemblage. At Washington earnest and far-seeing men have gathered to study how they may reach pacific agreement. The matters they consider have to do with the welfare of civilization. Upon their decision may depend the future of the races.

As they counsel, each is aware of some selfish interest, but each is willing to sacrifice such interest if it stands in the way of the general good. Each loves his own country, but there is the spirit that proclaims "My country is the world; my countrymen are mankind." This is the spirit that shall save the nations.

"Satan came also among them."

There is a studied effort to turn awry the currents of good fellowship, to erect new barriers between peoples that should be united in common purpose.

The words of speakers are misconstrued, twisted, perverted. Men who speak from the fullness of their hearts are held up as arrant pretenders, falsifiers; declared to be engaged in sinister scheming that will make for war and not for peace; that shall defeat justice, not sustain it.

"Who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge?"

For many years Hearst has hated England. So bitter was his rancor that in the war he caused his papers to uphold Germany. He opposed the sending of aid in any form to the allies. He defended the sinking of the Lusitania. Later he was forced to change the outward expression of his publications. The change was believed to be superficial. One of his correspondents, openly pro-German, was in the pay of the German government.

For years also, Hearst has devoted much energy to the effort to bring about conflict with Japan. The thought of the nations dwelling in peace is disturbing to him. His theory seems to be that the United States should be so armed as to be able to defy the world, and then issue a general challenge.

It is not surprising that Hearst should lend his full strength to the futile effort of rendering null the work of the conference, now so rich in promise, now making hope to spring in the breasts of people of many tongues. So he sends the brilliant but wholly unfair sophist, Brisbane, to make such mockery as his brain can devise. Brisbane enters upon the duty with zest, sweeping aside every fact that would hamper the operation of his own sounding but empty logic. Brisbane accepts no uttered word as sincere; no gesture as other than a pose; no implied pledge as anything but the lie of diplomacy. To him, apparently, the conference is the babble of hypocrisy.

Brisbane cannot harm the conference. The truth concerning it will rise above his little dust-cloud of condemnation. He is not portraying the real character of the event and its personnel. But he is betraying his own character and that of the man who has hired him to devote an able mind to base and ignoble use.

Joined with Brisbane are others of the Hearst camp, similarly vending such talents as they may possess. None is honest in attack. To each it seems impossible that any man could be honest. Having sold themselves for a price, they wonder as to the price of the individuals about them.

So counsel is being darkened by words without knowledge. And so it is fitting to say, as in the beginning "Satan came along among them."

ROY GARDNER, A TYPE

There seems a reasonable assurance that Roy Gardner, mail robber, has been captured. Probably the clerk who made the capture would have been less cool had he known himself to be in the presence of so noted an outlaw. It is not likely that the situation greatly perturbs Gardner. His staying qualities as a prisoner seem to be inconsiderable.

Gardner is a type of the natural criminal who has turned criminal from inclination and to whom reform is impossible. No man can be reformed save when his personal desire suggests such change. There are lacking in him, and his kind, those emotions that in operation receive the name of conscience. These are a part of the moral equipment. They are not within the experience of the individual devoid of morals.

While Gardner was free, after his latest escape, he is believed to have written a letter stating his intention of reforming. He made this proclaimed purpose the basis of a plea for clemency. There was no surety as to the genuineness of the letter, and, admitting the author to have been Gardner, there still could have been no assurance that he was sincere. The fact that he went back to the trade of robbery so soon shows that he could not have meant a word of his promise to be good.

This state has an habitual criminal law. By its terms the criminal who through his acts has placed himself in this class, goes to prison for life. The law was meant to fit the cases of which Gardner is an example, the utterly irreclaimable.

OPENING A CHAPTER

The address of Balfour, first in formal response to the opening statement of American intent, was an admirable utterance. On behalf of England he accepted the policy outlined when Secretary Hughes advocated a sweeping reduction in navy building. Balfour added that he regarded this occasion as "the opening of a new chapter in the history of world construction." Well may it so be regarded.

The Englishman said, quite incidentally, that Great Britain was more interested than any other nation in naval affairs. To this statement certain papers took instant exception. That the statement happens to be true, is a phase of the situation these hasty commentators ought to have given consideration.

Balfour said further: "There is something in this scheme which is above and beyond numerical calculation. This scheme, after all what does it do? It makes idealism a practical proposition. It takes hold of the dream which reformers, poets, publicists, even potentates as we heard the other day, have from time to time put before mankind as the goal to which human endeavor should aspire."

To the correspondents present for the sake of picking flaws, this had no meaning. They drew from Balfour's remarks only the conclusion that England had undertaken the direction of the naval policy of the United States.

The proposition of cutting down armaments originated in the United States. It was fairly hurtled into the midst of the delegates from other countries. They blinked and gasped, for they had been taken utterly by surprise. As soon as they could get breath and collect their thoughts, they assented heartily. They said they endorsed the plan, and that every one of them was ready to do, each, its part.

Following this a bevy of correspondents herald the discovery that Europe has concluded to dictate to America. There is no reply to make, unless somebody with not much to do, has leisure and inclination to answer a fool according to his folly.

THE COMMON GROUND

H. C. Wells says war can be made impossible only when the powers of the world have done what the thirteen original states did. That is, set up a law for all, and govern themselves.

A critic takes exception, saying that the thirteen colonies had a common purpose because they had a common foe "whose name" he adds with fine fiction of delicacy "it would not be tactful to mention."

This leaves the utterance of Wells just where it was as he made it, still unimpaired, and still unassailed, save for the rattle of a ready typewriter.

All the nations have common cause, and common purpose. Desire for recognition of this fact sought to find expression in the effort to establish the League of Nations, with the United States, not merely a member but the leader. The effort failed. The intelligence of partisanship did not measure up to the proper standard morally. It perceived the necessity, saw the possibility to accomplish much for civilization, and in its blindness, threw away the chance.

The disarmament conference is a reassembling of the forces once dissipated.

The common cause, of which the critic of Wells seems to have no inkling, lies in the knowledge of the wrong, the futility and the horror of war. Concerning these attrtibutes of armed conflict, enlightened peoples can have but one view. The same view must dawn upon other peoples as their standards of education and righteousness become higher.

A dog's bark is worse than his bite, but, unfortunately, a mosquito doesn't bark.

COLD-BLOODED

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Of all the recent crimes reported in the papers the most terrible seems to be that of a woman who, with the aid of her lover, killed her husband, cut him into pieces and threw the remains into the river.

This took place in a village on the Marne, near Paris.

The man's name was Jobin. The paramour, whose name was Burger, came in with the wife while Jobin was in bed. The two men got into an argument which resulted in Burger strangling Jobin to death, after which he removed the body to the kitchen and proceeded to cut it up. The pieces were put in three packages and thrown into the Marne.

Similar crimes have been committee, but that which renders this peculiarly atrocious was that the perpetrators, after it was over, proceeded with an almost incredible indifference to lead a quiet and simple suburban life.

Those perverts who commit their atrocities under the influence of alcohol or other drugs do not seem to us so revolting as the wretch who kills his fellow man in cold blood and goes about his business.

The acme of villainy is expressed in the fact that a man can "smile and smile and be a villain still."

After the murder the violent criminal seems less odious than this mild-mannered pair, Burger and Mrs. Jobin, who wash the blood from their hands and say:

"Now that's that, and we can go along and have some peace. We will do now what we have always dreamed of doing, set up a little family hotel in the country. After all the trouble we have had, we certainly have the right now to a little peace."

For this couple their crime was but a parenthesis. Before it they were commonplace, mild-mannered and hard-working people, and after it they were the same.

The neighbors knew them for orderly, careful and respectable persons, aside from their irregular relation.

The brutal soldiers who murder the inhabitants of a village in the madness of war are not so bad compared to this wife and friend who will cut you up a husband as calmly as they would cut you a leg of mutton. And after it was all over they took a little trip up the river, one of them carrying the head and upper part of the body, the other carrying the lower portions.

Intoxication and passion are no excuse for crime. But the fact remains that evil that is wrought with cool deliberation, perpetrated without a qualm and remembered pleasantly without regret, is the most horrible of all.

THE LISTENING POST

There is an old story.
Of the man who had an elephant.
He had no particular use for an elephant.
But the elephant was for sale and he bought it.
As some people do.
Buy everything that is for sale.

* * *

If they have the ready money.
Just as a boy does before he learns the value of money.
That it represents something besides spending quality.
Stored up labor.

* * *

And so when the boy is turned loose with money he spends it.
Buying the sweet things.
And the gaudy things.
Those that attract the appetite and the eye.

* * *

And he keeps buying until his money is gone.
Because money represents nothing to him.
But sweets and gaudy things and gew-gaws that tickle his fancy.
And the buying of things that tickle the fancy is not confined to boys.
Many of us who are older do the same thing.

* * *

But the man who bought the elephant wanted to buy something.
And he thought an elephant would be nice to have.
It would make him talked about among the neighbors.
As the only man in the community who owned an elephant.

* * *

People like to be talked about usually.
For some commendatory thing.
Or unusual thing.
As being possessors of wealth or books or pictures of motor cars or yachts or something or other.
It sets them apart from the plain and garden variety of people.
And we all like to think of ourselves as something unusual and different.

* * *

But when the man got the elephant he discovered that it had to be fed.
It ate a lot.
It takes a lot of stuffing to keep an elephant skin full.

* * *

And the first cost of the elephant was large.
But the upkeep was tremendous.
And so a comic opera librettist wrote a song about the man and the elephant:

"That elephant ate all night.
And that elephant ate all day.
And it kept that fellow broke all the time
To buy that elephant hay."

* * *

A song with little poetry but a lot of point to it.
Because a man with an elephant on his hands has a problem.
As this man did.

* * *

And the probabiilty is that if he was a thoughtful man, after realizing his predicament, he got rid of the elephant.
"Scrapped it" to use a modern expresion that is popular these days.

* * *

And the allegory is plain in these days of peace talk.
The nation builds a ship.
And another and bigger ship.
And another nation builds a bigger ship.
And all the time the hay-eating contest goes on.
Among the national elephants.

* * *

And finally it is discovered that the naval elephants are eating about two-thirds of the hay in the world.
That nations are spending nearly all their tax collections for armament.

* * *

The herd of elephants grows larger.
And the more elephants we have the more elephant keepers are necessary.
And hay-producers.
And feeders and stokers and the like.

* * *

It takes a lot of hay to stoke an elephant.
It takes a lot of fuel to stoke a battleship.
And the process goes on continually.
And the nations make the same discovery that the man made who had an elephant on his hands.

* * *

That the cost of the elephants is considerable.
But that we can afford to sacrifice the first cost if we can get rid of the elephants.
And save upkeep and maintenance and all that.
And stop the struggle to outdo our neighbors in the size of our elephant herd.

* * *

Which is what the scrapping of ships would do.
Get rid of the hay-eating elephants.
And save ourselves and other nations bankruptcy and disaster.
Let the elephants be scrapped.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Sorrows of Werther—By William M. Trackeray (1811-1863)

Werther had a love for Charlotte
Such as words could never utter;
Would you know how first he met her?
She was cutting bread and butter.

Charlotte was a married lady,
And a moral man was Werther
And, for all the wealth of Indies,
Would do nothing for to hurt her.

So he sighed and pined and ogled,
And his passion boiled and bubbled,
Till he blew his silly brains out,
And no more by it was troubled.

Charlotte, having seen his body
Borne before her on a shutter,
Like a well conducted person,
Went on cutting bread and butter.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHY FREE TOLLS?

[New York World]

Wholly apart from the treaty itself, why should the coastwise shipping interests have free tolls at the expense of the taxpayers? That is something which nobody has ever explained. If tolls are to be collected at all through the Panama canal, they should be collected equally from everybody and the canal operated on a business basis. There is certainly no argument in favor of exempting the one class of American shipping already protected from foreign competition.

There must be a reason why congress is so eager to take money out of the pockets of the taxpayers and stuff it into the pockets of the coastwise monopoly. It must be a very impressive reason which makes democratic senators no less enthusiastic than republican senators in violating the terms of a treaty, in enacting an international dispute and favoring one special interest at the expense of the country as a whole. We do not know what the reason is, but the record of eloquent of a fixity of purpose which has persisted for ten years and is well on the way to another triumph.

MESSAGE FOR EVERY DAY

[Providence Journal]

On the lawn in front of a church not many miles from Providence stands a glass-covered case on a tall stake. In this case are displayed, with frequent changes, mottos, adages and scraps of poetry in type large enough to be read by ever passer on the highway. This is the latest "message" thus given to the public:

"Tasks in hours of insight will'd
Can be through hours of gloom fulfill'd."

These lines of Matthew Arnold are as applicable to today as they ever were; and very likely they will be read, and perhaps they will be taken to heart, by a good many people who never attend the services of the church in front of which they are posted for everyone to see.

They carry a helpful suggestion to all discouraged workers. They offer a remedy for many of the ills of life. They urge the puzzled man who is trying to figure out the future for himself to keep his sail trimmed, to maintain his course straight ahead, to do today's duty no matter what may happen by and by.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA M. STEWART

In Atlanta, Ga., lives a judge who has a fine sense of consistency. In the habit of finding other members of his court for tardiness, he imposed a fine upon himself one morning recently when circumstances had made him late in attendance.

It's pretty hard to judge ourselves by the same standards that we would impose on others. So hard is it that we're muddling along even now, trying in public life and economic circles to make the other fellow do what we think is perfectly fair to us. We forget that the other fellow has a viewpoint, also. Maybe he's just waiting to see us begin to do the thing that is perfectly fair to him—who knows?

It's just another case of that "vicious circle" that we have heard so much about. Everybody waiting for some one else. So few to stand out boldly and declare that perfect fairness shall be the slogan of life and relationships, so few to carry out such a life motto. Somehow it's so easy to think that we are favored individuals—a little removed from the common rabble, a little less amenable to common law and common justice. For us the rules of hte game must be laid aside. For us, privilege instead of stern duty.

The first thing we know, we run up against some fundamental verity of life. It doesn't give way before us and an unpleasant, painful bump is the result. Sometimes we learn from one such bump.

We all have more or less severe standards by which we judge others. Let's not make them more severe than those which we keep for self-judgments.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

"Are we arguing this case or drawing a jury?" asked a San Francisco judge wearily.

He really did not need to make the inquiry. He knew that the case was being argued. There was no propriety in such argumentation. It was staged in order to create prejudice in the minds of possible jurors. The lawyers were assuming that certain allegations in nowise proved, were facts.

A criminal trial in many instances is nothing but the matching of tricks. No matter if the case of the prosecution appears to be valid, no evidence, however complete, necessarily leads to conviction.

This is not said in reference to the particular case that happens to be on view. It is said only in reference to the methods of the criminal lawyer, whose business is not to uphold justice, but to flout, defy and defeat justice.

The license that is given to such type of practitioner has reduced criminal court procedure to absurdity and ineffectiveness. There is no necessity for going to San Francisco to observe concrete illustration of this rather depressing truth.

"Though the mills of God grind slowly' this characteristic seems to be possessed in equal measure by the courts.

Seven years ago the immigration authorities began action to bring about deportation of Jan Gar Kee. He is still here. A United States commissioner has just ordered his removal to China, but this order is rendered non-effective by appeal to the federal courts.

If the distinguished and undesirable Mr. Kee ever is to be removed, the chances are that it will be by the process of old age, not in itself a speedy method, but compared to judicial procedure, fairly to be termed swift.

Rose Pastor Stokes no longer rests under sentence of ten years in the penitentiary. Perhaps the change is pleasing to her, although a sentence more or less does not seem to disturb her equanimity.

Considerably more than two thousand automobiles have been stolen in Los Angeles this year. Enough of the year remains to permit the piling up of a really notable record.

Meanwhile the people of Los Angeles have a notion that conditions call for an adequate police force, and are expending much energy in trying to drive the idea into the heads of the city council. Apparently a hopeless task.

Ralph Obenchain, ex-husband of Madalynne, is said to be desirous of remarrying the woman.

She is in prison cnarged jointly with a male admirer, with the murder of the man for whom she had discarded her husband as she might have thrown aside an old shoe.

There have been studied attempts to erect Obenchain into a hero. He is not a hero. He is in no sense admirable. If not held now in utter contempt, it is because people are singularly mild in their judgments.

There is revival of talk about a pardon for Debs. From expressions of opinion frequent in the press, it does not appear that the granting of such a pardon would be deemed objectionable.

Debs is not of the militant type. Compared with the Stokes woman he is mildness itself. He never was pro-German, as was Victor Berger, who like Mrs. Stokes, has gone free. He is so constituted as to be the enemy of war, of all war. In the crisis that arose, this attitude constituted disloyalty, and could not be ignored. But that crisis has passed, and in the life time of Debs, and long after it is hoped no similar crisis shall appear.

REV. ISAACS MAKES INTERESTING TALK

Why Question of Healing is Most Promising Today Subject of Address

"Why the Question of Healing is so Promising Today," was the subject of Rev. E. Morgan Isaac's lecture Wednesday evening. The audience overflowed from the lecture room into the auditorium of the Congregational church.

"In the center of man's being," he began, "is an urge for truth, for perfection, for that which is in itself holy. This accountus for the desire everywhere existing to be well. Today the religionist and the scientist are one. The old theology is gone. The world of higher thought of the present time is not an antagonistic world, but inclines toward unanimity. When the Bible was taken literally physical suffering was accepted as inevitable and little attention was paid to the body.

"During the first 300 years after Christ people were healed, then orthodoxy began its rule and confined itself to the soul and its salvation. In time some spiritually minded people discovered that the body was an essential part of man and could be healed. They did not believe it was God's will that anyone should be ill. Christ when healing intimated this. For centuries the church has been impotent with regard to healing. We should be going forward, not backward. If people could be healed then, why not now?

"Some people outside the church began to find it was possible to control illness by the observance of certain laws. These laws must be obeyed by everyone who would retain health. Jesus understood them. We are now trying to discover those laws. Understanding is the key to all things. One should first try to understand himself. Today we are placing stress on a fundamental truth, as old as the ages. Pythagoras said, "Man is a god in embryo." We are now getting to a place in the world's history where we are shaking off the old circumscribed ideas and creeds. You cannot make a man from the outside.

"We, who are all God's off-spring, make these human limitations. Get it fixed in your consciousness that you are a part of the Infinite, and that God never makes an imperfect thing. As we begin to rise and develop, with limitless hunger for realities, for peace and harmony, those things begin to come to use, for thought can never be destroyed. We unconsciously do wrong thinking and, in our subconscious mind which rules the body, thoughts are preserved that are destructive to health. Mental healing is not a miracle. If instructed carefully and clearly, it can be done by the subconscious mind, no matter how great the distance is between the healer and the patient.

"When you get to thinking deeply of truths, you are vibrating on the highest planes. No mortal knows how fast thought vibrates. Think of truths and you will rise so high in your vibrations that disease can not touch you. Science has taught us that everything is eternal, all is mind, and mind is spirit. When man gets out of harmony in his mentality he brings about a storm within himself, therefore it is very necessary that man should know how to control himself. Back of this objective mind is the real self and he must become his own master.

"The world is only just beginning to find that all is wonderful mind. God made a perfect being, not depraved. Scientists know more about God than anyone, because they see God in everything. We have come to realize that no sane man will say anything against physicians and surgeons, but when you can make up your mind that, since you are a part of the Infinite, healing is within you, then you are healed. Faith in the doctor has much to do with the relief his visits give, and in that way the physician is a help. Learn your mental powers and obey them, then nothing can hurt you.

CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY SCHEDULE

Special Services in All Churches Tomorrow Has Been Arranged

The service at the Methodist church Sunday morning will be of a Thanksgiving nature and, following the practice of a previous century, offerings of vegetables, fresh or canned fruit, and any kind of food, are requested. They will be arranged around the chancel rail and on Monday taken to the Deaconess home. It is hoped there will also be gifts of money. Rev. John Hedley's morning sermon will answer the question, "Why Be Thankful?" and the evening discourse will have for its theme, "The Rich Young Man Whom Jesus Loved." There will be special music by the choir and Sunday school orchestra. The topic of the Epworth League meeting will be, "A Surrendered and Victorious Life," led by Mrs. J. A. Morrow.

Rev. B. B. Weatherall of the Presbyterian church will preach on "Thanksgiving" in the morning. At 6 p. m. there will be a session of the school of missions, taking for consideration, "The Church and Industry." Classes of all ages are provided with teachers. The Intermediate and Senior Christian Endeavor societies will convene at 6:30, and at 7 o'clock all will meet, as is the usual custom, in the social hall, a special invitation being given to strangers. Light refreshments will be served. Illustrated with stereopticon slides, the evening address is entitled, "Lost on the Iron Ranges." The music of the day will be appropriate to Thanksgiving. A notable response was made by the congregation last Sunday to the statement that funds were needed to provide equipment for the rapidly growing Sunday school and to forward other church work. Then and there the sum of $1,600 was subscribed.

Rev. E. Morgan Isaac will talk in the Congregational church about "The Theology of Jesus," in the morning. His evening subject is "Fits and Misfits in Life." There will be special music.

Rev. Dr. Scoville, a divine of note, will preach in the Episcopal church Sunday morning, the rector, Rev. Robert Renison, occupying the pulpit in the morning.

ROOT FAMILY BACK TO SPEND WINTER

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Root, former residents of Eagle Rock, who still retain their home at 269 North Satsuma avenue and spend their winters in it, have arrived from Moline, Ill., accompanied by Mrs. Root's mother, Mrs. Wright. Mrs. Root, who is a member of the Women's Twentieth Century club, has consented to take charge of a "white elephant" booth at the bazaar to be given by the club December 1, 2, and 3. Contributions of anything that is regarded as a "white elephant" in the household, that may be of use to someone else, are requested. Mrs. Root's phone number is Garvanza 1377. Mr. Root was obliged at the beginning of the world war to go to Moline to oversee the manufacture of war supplies by the Root & Vandervoort Engineering Co., who are large builders of high grade motors. Their engines all bear the trade-mark "R. & V." A passenger car is put out under the name of the "R. and V. Knight."

FAIR EXCHANGE

An enterprising tradesman sent a doctor a box of cigars which had not been ordered, with a bill for six dollars. The accompanying letter stated that "I have ventured to send these on my initiative, being convinced that you will appreciate their exquisite flavor."

In due course the doctor replied: "You have not asked me for a consultation, but I venture to send you three prescriptions, being convinced that you will derive therefrom as much benefit as I shall derive from your cigars. As my charge for a prescription is two dollars, this makes us even."

MAIL CLERK'S WIFE TO THANK GARDNER

Will go to Bandit in Jail on Thanksgiving Day to See Notorious Man

PHOENX, Ariz., Nov. 19.—On Thanksgiving Day there's going to be a little party staged at the county jail with Roy Gardner, master bandit, as central figure. It is not going to be a party of sumptuous dishes, or presents, or merriment. It is going to be a party of real thankfulness. One little woman is going to be down on her knees in that dreary cell, offering up a prayer of real thanksgiving.

She's cried out the prayer before. She's going to do it again. She wants Gardner, "the bandit with a heart," to know that one woman's prayers go out to him in gratitude because he spared the life of her husband.

The woman is Mrs. Herman Inderlied. She hasn't seen Gardner yet. But on Thanksgiving Day she is going with her husband and her 9-year-old son, Herman Jr., to the jail.

Gardner held a gun close to her husband's body. Gardner was an escaped bandit—desperate. But he did not shoot. Mrs. Herman Inderlied is going to give thanks to her God and Gardner on this day of all days that, through the goodness of both, her husband has been preserved to her.

FIVE HUNDRED WAS ENJOYED THURSDAY

Happy Gathering of Card Enthusiasts Had Very Enjoyable Evening

Although winter weather, attended by gusts of wind from the northwest, descended unexpectedly upon the valley, a group of card players met in the parlors of the Women's clubhouse Thursday evening and enjoyed the game of "500" beside a hospitable blaze in the great fireplace.

Prizes were won for high scores by a fortunate couple from Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark, who bore home a large frosted cake and a pair of ornamental candles. The consolation gift, a miniature turkey in china, was received by Mrs. Alice Winters, and she immediately extended a general invitation to Thanksgiving dinner, "having the turkey provided." Delicious toasted cheese sandwiches, cake, and coffee were served. Mmes. J. C. Clausen, C. E. Spencer and L. E. Dickson were the hostesses.

AUTO THIEVES GET 17,000 CARS ACROSS

Auto Club Asked to Investigate for Owners Whose Cars Are Lost

Auto thieves have taken 17,000 stolen cars into Western Canada, it is reportetd, and hundreds of auto owners in the Southern part of the state are seeking information from the Auto Club of Southern California to see if their cars are among the number.

Motor cars are being stolen in Southern California in wholesale numbers at this time, according to the Auto Club report issued by its theft bureau.

Auto theft gangs have never been so active or so well organized. Club officials are uncertain as to whether any part of the 17,000 stolen cars reported as reposing in the west part of Canada belong to Southern California owners or not, but an investigation is to be started at once.

It is announced by the club that an effective barrier has been erected by the Theft Bureau of the organization along the Mexican Border. However large the number of stolen cars may be which are traced to Canada, at least that number will never be traced to Mexico, claims the Auto Club.

Arrangements have been perfected whereby stolen autos being raced into Mexico by the thieves can now be stopped at any point along the Mexican line in the western part of the United States. The wily thief who eludes the theft bureau detectives now-a-days will be a wonder.

Approximately 3,000 motor cars have been stolen in Southern California so far this year, representing a total valuation of more than $2,700,000, according to the club report. Of these, more than half the number have been recovered and returned to their owners, but 1,330 are still reported as lost, representing a total sum of approximately $1,200,000 to the owners.

Are these machines in Canada? That is what the Club Theft Bureau hopes to find out.

THURSDAY CLUB IS GUEST MISS GLEISS

"Women in Music" is Subject of Fine Paper Read at Session

The Thursday Morning Music club met this week at the home of Miss Esther Gleiss, on North Central avenue. The hostess opened the program with a paper on "Women in Music," the subject of the day. Compositions of Chaminade were chosen to illustrate the ability of women in the creation of harmony, and included a piano duet by the Misses Leora Johnston and Constance Braasch; a song ,"Summer," by Mrs. Alice Horton Mills, and a piano solo, "Autumn," by Miss Ruth Thompson. Mrs. A. R. Rose read a biography of Mme. Chaminade, and Mrs. Eleanor A. Terry reviewed the life of Augusta Holmes, a musical genius born in Ireland but naturalized in France, in whose honor the French people erected a monument, in a cemetery at Versailles, in 1905. The members listened with much pleasure to a contralto solo, "Wait," by Miss Eleanor Ledden, who with her mother and brother came to Eagle Rock recently from Liverpool, England. Miss Ledden joined the club on Thursday.

ENSENADA ROUTE IN BAD CONDITION

Auto Club Sends Word Route Not Good Despite Reports to Contrary

Hundreds of motorists, misled by a story appearing in Southern California newspapers from an alleged authentic source, are endeavoring to tour the Ensenada, in Mexico. These would-be Mexican tourists are besieging the San Diego office of the Automobile Club of Southern California, arriving in the southern city from points as far north as San Francisco and from Nevada and Arizona, in an endeavor to secure maps for the Mexican journey.

That the Ensenada route is in very poor condition at this time, despite reports to the contrary, is the word sent out by the Auto Club to all of its county offices.

The new coast road which will take the motorists to Ensenada in the future will not be open for travel until after the first of the year, according to reliable information received by the touring bureau of the club from the Mexican government.

The old road into Lower California is not in good condition. Automobile club officials from San Diego have just completed a tour of inspection to Ensenada from Tia Juana in order to issue correct information to the hundreds of motorists who are endeavoring to make the trip on account of the stories already published in regard to excellent hunting in that vicinity.

Motorists are warned to secure reliable road information before attempting trips of this character in the future. Road information issued by amateurs for publicity purposes had better be investigated before any long trip is undertaken on the strength of it, warns the club touring bureau.

The trip into Mexico, on account of poor road conditions, is absolutely not advised by the Auto club at this time.

WILL ELECT BOARD ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Spirited Arguments Over Matter of Incorporation Come Up on Tuesday

TUJUNGA, Nov. 19.—The annual meeting of the Tujunga chamber of commerce, held last Tuesday night, took on the aspect of a political caucus when the anti- and pro- incorporationists met and clashed ideas. Several heated arguments started over the matter of incorporation. During one argument the lie was passed.

The argument started when a ticket for the board of directors of the chamber of commerce was introduced containing the names of nine men who are alleged to be pledged anti-incorporationists. Pro-incorporationists contended that this ticket was unfair and that blank tickets should be distributed giving everyone an opportunity to express a choice. It was finally decided to adjourn the meeting until next Wednesday. The board of directors will be elected at that time.

The retiring board of directors was given a unanimous vote of thanks by the members of the chamber. A communication from the Monte Vista Lodge, asking for financial aid in charitable work, was read and referred to the incoming board of directors.

A public reception is being planned for next Tuesday in honor of the return to Tujunga from an extended trip through Spain, of Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen McGroarty.

Mrs. M. C. Colburn has returned from a visit to Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Manchester arrived in Tujunga on Friday from Boston. They made the trip overland in an automobile in four weeks.

The Parent-Teacher Association raised nearly $100 with their "Round the World Trip," given last Tuesday night.

Tappets that are too tight or too loose will cause misfiring of the engine.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE KINGDOM OF JAZZ

Do you know that gay city called Devil-May-Care in the heart of the Kingdom of Jazz,
Where the movies all open at seven a. m. and the watchword is "step on the gas?"
They make oyster stew out of crackers and cheese and the leaves on the trees are all pink,
They have cabaret breakfasts with green-headed girls and nobody takes time to think.
At night all the saxophone players come out and the movie stars shine in the sky,
And the orchestras play and the shimmy grows fast and they serve cigarettes with the pie.
And all the Jazz people, they dance and they sing in the gay way the Jazz kingdom has,
And they care not a thing what the morrow may bring as long as it brings them more Jazz.

They've rolled up the rugs in the Kingdom of Jazz, and pushed back the tables and chairs,
And nobody knows what the waiters will bring on the platters and nobody cares;
There's a rattlety bang and the banjos all twang and the Jazz people poise on their toes,
And they play the same tune through the long afternoon and what it is nobody knows.
They wobble and sway in the Jazzer's gay way, and they wiggle and shiver and shake,
The glad banjo thrums and the cymbals and drums and the leader unwinds like a snake,
There's an unearthly groan from the sliding trombone, such as wail as a lost spirit has,
Oh, they dance with a will and they never are still in the gay, restless Kingdom of Jazz.

They're wonderful people, the people of Jazz, and they hop and they glide and they trot,
Not a step have they missed and they turn and they twist and you may think they're tired but they're not.
They're thin and they're lean like a garden string-bean and they're tall and they're short and they're stout.
They're young and they're gay and they're old and they're gray and they jazz the days in and days out.
And at night all the saxophone players come out and the movie stars shine in the sky,
And the ochestras play and the shimmy grows fast and they serve cigarettes with the pie,
And you hear on the air there in Devil-May-Care the only one music it has,
And you don't care a thing what the morrow may bring as long as it brings you more Jazz.

HORSESHOE CLUB'S TOURNAMENT SOON

Twirlers Are to Come From All Parts of State to Try for $300 in Prizes

Horseshoe pitchers from all over the state will gather in Glendale next Friday and Saturday for a horseshoe pitching tournament, under the auspices of the California Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, and endorsed by the Glendale chamber of commerce.

Any horseshoe pitcher in the state is eligible to enter this tournament, either as a representative of a club or as an individual, says Walt H. Niccles, local secretary of the state organization. An entrance fee of 50 cents is charged and today is the last day to make entries. There will be $300 given in prizes.

The tournament will be held under the rules of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, with impartial judges, referees and scorekeepers officiating. Admission is free.

Ford Items

J. A. Nadeau reports an unusual run on one-ton trucks. Out of the 150 new cars sold and delivered last month, from his agency, 18 of them were trucks.

Hamlin W. Nerney, Inc., has added a new salesman to his force, but one not new to the business—he is Joseph Kisling and well-known for many years in Ford circles.

Hubbard Auto Sales Co. has sold a tractor to the California Country Club, to be used with a new lawnmower attachment, which is doing double the work of five horses and five men. This is a new job for a Fordson tractor.

Caddell Motor Co., of Eagle Rock, sold a Ford sedan to Frank Benneson, owner of "Laddie," the noted dog of cinema fame. Mr. Benneson is very partial to Fords and so is Laddie, and while going to and from the studio to perform in the new photoplay, "In for Life," Laddis will ride comfortably in a Ford sedan.

Clark & Leonard have added to their sales force Carl B. Weis of Ford fame, and formerly with the Tractor Train Co. of California. Mr. Weis has been made superintendent of service for Clark & Leonard.

Capt. C. W. Jargstorff, sales manager for Ben. A. Finch and Wm. Atkins, of musical fame, also a salesman for Mr. Finch, are getting busy on the program for the musicale to be given near Christmas time as a benefit for the Orphans' Home. Both men belong to the Advertising Club quartet.

Beginning last Wednesday in the large new service station of the Jesse E. Smith authorized Ford service station, a school for the practical instruction of the use of the Fordson tractor and a practical demonstration of the simplicity in making repairs, is being held. This school of instruction is in charge of J. Danilson. Mr. Danilson has just come from the Fordson factory at Dearborn, Mich., and is unquestionably qualified to handle this school work, as he has had over two years' experience at the Fordson factory. Mr. Danilson handled over 1200 students from the various plants of the Ford Motor Co. throughout the United States. This school will particularly interest Ford owners and all are invited to attend. No charge is made. This is a part of the service rendered by Jesse E. Smith at Glendale.—Adv.

LOCAL PICTURE IS DELAYED IN MAKING

Will be Presented November 30 and December 1 at T. D. & L. Theater

On account of unavoidable delay, the T. D. & L. theater announces it will be impossible to show the motion picture, "The New York Financier," taken in Glendale with a cast composed of Glendalians, for one week. The picture was originally scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, November 23 and 24. It will be postponed until Wednesday, and Thursday, November 30 and December 1.

The chief factor in the delay of the production was the matter of increasing the picture from two to three reels. One entire reel will be devoted to pictures taken of the various schools. Officials of the Addis Film Co., who are directing the filming of the picture, say that the work is almost complete. On Thursday, several street scenes were taken on Broadway and Brand boulevard, and a few "shots" in the residential section.

A change in the cast of characters was necessary and Lenore Jones, 454 West Ivy street, will take the lead, playing opposite Stanton Hahn.

Pictures of the Armistice Day parade, all of the schools and business houses, have been taken. An extra matinee of comic and educational films has been arranged for the school children for both afternoons Still pictures of all the business houses will be shown at every performance in addition to the motion picture, at the regular price.

MEDICAL KAISERS SUBJECT OF TALK

On Tuesday evening, November 22, a meeting will be held under the auspices of the Progressive Chiropractors' Association at the Pearl Keller studio, 109-A North Brand boulevard. Griffith Jones, attorney for the national chiropractors' association, will speak on "The Medical Kaisers."

The chiropractors are waging a cmpaign throughout the state of California to acquaint the public with the benefits of their science and also for the purpose of explaining the difficulties under which they labor on account of having to secure their licenses from the board of medical examiners.

The chiropractors claim is is impossible to get a license on account of the fact that all the examiners are medical men and not acquainted with chiropractic.

Besides the address by Griffith Jones there will be music by a colored orchestra. The meeting will commence at 7:30 and is only one of many meetings which are being held at the present time in various parts of the state. As many as 3000 people were turned away from the meeting at the Spreckels theater in San Diego, and it is expected that a large crowd of those who believe in what is termed "medical freedom" will be present on this occasion.

AUTO TRADE ASS'N MEETS WEDNESDAY

Fine Dinner Wiii Be Followed By Prominent Men in Line

One of the biggest "get-together" meetings of its kind ever held will take place in Pasadena Wednesday evening, November 23rd, at 7 o'clock. At that time members of the San Gabriel Valley Automobile Trade association, numbering 87, will gather at the Coffee Cup Inn, with all their employes, to participate in a combined business and entertainment meeting.

This meeting, held under the auspices of the Garage and Repairmen's Craft, will be for the purpose of fostering a closer relationship between the employer and employee. The need for more and greater co-operation between the dealer and his employees, who are in reality his personal representatives, is a fact that has become more and more evident of late.

Arrangements have been made to seat 250, and from all reports more than this number are confidently expected. During the excellent dinner, music will be rendered by a number of the Elks' band, who are also members of the Automobile Trade associaiton. Following the meal, several speakers of prominence will be heard along trade subjects.

Among those who will speak will be John W. Maltman, deputy attorney general of the state, and a former president of the Los Angeles Auto Trade association. Robert Atkinson, chairman of the Motor aCr Dealers division of Orange county, will also discuss service features.

M. E. Drum, the well known character analyst, will talk on character study as applied to business, and then give numerous demonstrations of character reading at sight. Speaking of the meeting, Secretary-manager P. W. Battelle says: "The motoring public today is asking for and seeking more efficient service, courteous treatment and guaranteed goods and work.

"The day of the inefficient dealer and employee is practically over.

"Just drive down any street and note the different automobile establishments. One will appear clean and prosperous. The other ill kept and slovenly. Which one will you as a motorist patronize? That is why the dealer who expects to keep his old customers and make new ones must render a still better, more efficient service and keep his place of business clean and up-to-date.

"The courteous employee—doesn't it make you feel a lot better to be greeted with a polite inquiry or a smile when you drive up, than with a growl? Do you like to wait in front of a place and blow your horn for service?

"The automobile business, and its accessories is on a much higher plane than formerly, but there is still room for improvement That is why we are meeting together for the betterment of the trade. The employee and the employer.

"If we all can do our work just a little faster, a little better, be courteous, be efficient, the motoring public cannot fail to appreciate it and increased business will be the result."

THATCHED ROOF IS MODEL FOR MARKET

The Thatched Roof Ranch Market at Grand View avenue and San Fernando road, is one of the most unique markets of its kind on the coast. It is operated by Howard Lowdermilk, who is a graduate of Ames, Iowa Agricultural college and who has devoted his life to raising hogs.

Being energetic and progressive and realizing that the public needs just such a thing as a sanitary ranch market, Mr. Lowdermilk has expended $5200 for a refrigerating plant, where everything is kept in the most sanitary condition. The public being desirous of obtaining choicest pork and pork products should visit this market. Mr. Lowdermilk fattens his hogs on corn and milk. He maintains a herd of 40 brood sows, each being vacinated. At present he has about 120 young pigs which will be on the market for roasters at Thanksgiving time.

The Thatched Roof Market is a model establishment. Long experience, coupled with a desire to serve the public in the best possible manner, enables this market to give the very best products at attractive prices. A first class vegetable market is also in connection. People come from all over this section and buy at the Thatched Roof Market. Mr. Lowdermilk is demonstrating what can be done by giving service, and good products, and is a strong believer in the old saying, "If you build your house in the wilderness and do things a little better than the other fellow, the world will make a beaten path to your door"

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the iching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Adv.
